BELFAST STAGES RELIGIOUS WAR

Mayor Appeals for British Regular Troops—Sniping From House Tops Replaces Hand-to-Hand Fighting Between Opposite Religious Factions

BELFAST, Aug. 31.—Rioting of the most intense character broke out this morning. The sniping and shooting was widespread over a wide area of the city. Hundreds of men were prevented from going to work.

It was the second day of disturbances, following a clash between Orangemen and Catholics, in which houses were set on fire by the former.

With five killed and more than a score wounded yesterday, the fighting today, which was beyond control of police and military authorities, was expected to add to the casualties.

Disorders spread to Royal avenue with sniping and stone throwing by the Sinn Feiners and Unionists. Royal avenue is the chief thoroughfare of the city and heavy property damage was done.

The mayor has addressed a communication to the military authorities protesting against the inactivity of the soldiers and appealing to them to protect the citizens of the city.

In response to the mayor's appeal, the military authorities today sent troops into the areas where fighting was going on, with orders to take control of the situation. The steel helmeted men charged down the streets with fixed bayonets. Armored cars were sent out to patrol the thoroughfares. Special deputies were summoned to reinforce the police.

No Man's Land
Large sections of Belfast are a "no man's land," where in the populace, hovering behind barred doors, is panic stricken. In scores of cases doors are being battered down by the infuriated fanatics, who then attack the inmates. The latter forced to fight against odds, scurry for refuge elsewhere and are made the target for snipers. Women and children are shifted about by the roving battle front.

The latest heard of the conflict, in which Orangemen are fighting Catholics, is at York street. There garden walls have been demolished and form the bulwark of trenches which have been thrown up hastily. Gunmen may be seen resting their rifles on the tumbled-down bricks and seated on stools, sniping at luckless refugees. Many of the snipers are equipped with field glasses to spy out opposite snipers.

Eleven Killed Reported
The number of killed since the fighting started, 36 hours ago, is 11, according to the Belfast News Letter. This newspaper stated that the ammunition used by the Orangemen to attack the Catholics was supplied by the Ulster special police.

The Northern Whig warned Sir James Craig and his Ulster government that it must act at once to stem the rising tide of anger against the plague of riots.

Not even in the bitterest phases of the Sinn Fein-Ulster warfare was there such unrestrained play of passions as marked the terror that the people of Belfast have just passed through.

Fanaticism Reigns
Religious fervor bordering on fanaticism was displayed by men and women.

The night was marked by stampedes in which women were trampled, while Orangemen and Catholics fought in bitter hand-to-hand struggles in various sections of the city.

At one place a party of men with new rifles in the streets fired volleys into passing crowds.

Creed Battle Lines
Creeds were strictly observed, even in the shadow of wholesale murder. The only ones who were left unaffected by the fanatical fury of the fighters were Sisters of Mercy. Protestant nurses succored Catholic victims and Catholic sisters were seen bending over Orangemen giving them first aid.

The Belfast News charged that the ammunition for the attack on the Catholics was supplied by the Ulster police.

The Northern Whig warned Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, that the "government must act" and that "there is a rising tide of anger against the rioters."

H. C. L. ADVANCES AS WAGES DECREASE SAYS DAVIS

Labor Secretary Reports Wage Cuts in 693 Industries Total 15.9 Per Cent

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Food prices today are on the upward trend while wages continue to go downward, Secretary of Labor Davis disclosed today that wage cuts in 693 representative industrial establishments, with 4,500,000 workers, totalled 15.9 per cent during the first eight months of the present year.

August Prices Advance
Ethelbert Stewart, chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, who is in charge of the collection of data on living costs, stated today that while figures on food costs for the month of August are not yet complete, the reports showed the cost of living has been higher during the present month than it was in July.

July reports showed, Stewart said, that living costs during that month were near 3 per cent higher than in June. Stewart pointed out that during the period from July 15, 1920, to July 15, 1921, the percentage decrease in articles of food combined was 32.

Wage Reductions
Secretary Davis, in a statement on wage reductions, said a study had been made in about 800 representative plants. Five hundred instances of wage reductions were discovered in 750 plants by the national conference board, he said. These included textile plants in various parts of the country, the cuts taking place between September, 1920, and May, 1921. The average reduction was 20 per cent but in some places 5 and 10 per cent cuts were recorded.

"On the basis of the 10-hour day," the secretary pointed out, "unskilled labor will average 93 a day as against 95.06 for the same amount of work in February, 1920."

Enjoyment by the public of the Glendale Merchants' Exposition Revue is on the increase. As one watched the gay crowds coming and going the query presented itself, Will Glendale ever have an exposition in which she will take as much pleasure as in this one? It is just large enough not to be tiresome, and is a gathering of neighbors and friends who are glad to have a chance to see what is going on in our city, to visit with each other and enjoy a little entertainment at the same time.

H. S. Webb's Art Show
It was obvious, however, that the throng was awaiting the fashion revue. It was even more obvious that the men in attendance, and they were in the majority, were even more eager than the women present.

It was H. S. Webb's night and he provided an attractive and clever program which won the approval of the huge group of onlookers.

In the afternoon he had made a preliminary showing of the Peggy house dresses, but the evening display surpassed it. They are certainly clever, artistic creations, and if expressions of admiration are any indication of intent to possess, there will be a run on the H. S. Webb stock that will leave little for subsequent revues.

Bewildering Evening Display
They are of crepe and gingham, sometimes in combination, but more often of the one material.

One great charm is the variety, for the styles vary from the empire waist and full skirt to the one-piece slip-over, girdled sometimes with a wide belt that has the effect of hitting the waist line, and sometimes a narrow one.

Loose, narrow panels, bound with black, decorated at the bottom with large squares of a contrasting color and checked off with black stitching, featured many of the exhibits and were daring bits of color work and design.

There were angel sleeves and shaped sleeves, but all were short, and colored embroidery was not altogether lacking, although it was less in evidence than it has been on the one-piece dresses.

Following these pretty things, which were effectively displayed by mannikins who ran the gamut of feminine beauty and were representatives of the true blonde, brunette and auburn haired types, who tripped down the avenue of light to jazz music, came the climax of the evening's entertainment, the revue of costumes typical of our favorite allies.

First came the shy Dutch maid from Holland, in white cap and apron, and wooden shoes, who speedily lost her shyness under the admiring gaze of hundreds of approving masculine eyes. Next came the girl from gay Paris, but in French peasant costume, consisting of a blue skirt and embroidered red velvet bodice, who sang a gay little French song: "Out, Out."

Ireland Enters the Revue
She was followed by a "bit of old Ireland," an auburn-haired colleen in white satin skirt embroidered with gold shamrocks, a gold-colored cape lined with Irish green and a bit of emerald ribbon in her hair.

Her successor, came in what was represented to be the ceremonial wedding costume of China, blue skirt and trousers trimmed with bands of embroidery and crowned with the typical head band. She sang "Love's Lullaby" to the entire satisfaction of the great audience and ran lightly back to the stage to give place to the English girl, another shy lass in big, flower-trimmed hat, a basque-like waist and long skirt.

The sweet Italian girl who next drew the eyes of all present, was garbed in a short green velvet jacket over a pleated brown skirt with a crimson velvet band, and overhung with the typical apron, her head covered with a red scarf. She also warbled beautifully a "Gypsy Love Song."

The International Girl
Last of all came the International Girl in satin skirt of red and white stripes, blue bodice decorated with silver stars, twisted coronet of red and white, and pendant from her arms in lieu of sleeves, banners decorated with the Union Jack and the Tricolor of France.

Miss International made her triumphal march to the strains of "America," and the plaudits of patriotic observers, and when she again reached the stage, all the representatives of "our favorite allies" were grouped and sang "America" to the best of their ability. Some sang one verse, some another and some sang "tra la," but the audience knew the tune and understood what they were trying to do.

Thus ended the fashion revue for Tuesday night with promises of even better things to come.

Logan County Deputy Sheriffs Meet Charge on Blair Mountain and Drive Rioters Back Into Blaser, Which Is Held by Assailants—Casualties Unknown

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The federal government today is once more following the watchful waiting policy with regard to West Virginia. President Harding's proclamation commanding "all persons engaged in unlawful and insurrectionary proceedings to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes on or before 12 o'clock noon of the first day of September," was being widely circulated today throughout the regions of disorder in West Virginia.

The United Mine Workers, through Philip Murray, vice president, are urging the armed bands of miners in the Mingo region to return home and abandon their contemplated march.

The government now awaits, the action of the members of the armed bands while they determine whether they will defy the federal government and their union or shall return to their homes.

By noon tomorrow the government will move if the armed bands have not dispersed. Troops are ready to proceed into the West Virginia section either from Camp Dix, New Jersey, or Camp Sherman at Chillicothe, Ohio.

Brigadier General H. H. Bandholtz, representative of the President, has returned to the scene of the threatened trouble and will use his best efforts to secure compliance with the presidential proclamation.

TOKIO IS INFORMED YAP QUESTION IS SETTLED

(By International News Service)

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—The International News Service learns from an official source that it is "very probable" that cables from the United States reporting that a settlement of the Yap mandate question has been reached, are correct.

Although up until the filing of this dispatch, the foreign office had received no official notification from Ambassador Shidehara in Washington, it is known here that the negotiations have reached such a stage that an agreement could be expected at any time.

The probable terms of settlement, according to official opinion here, include granting the United States full control of the Yap-Guam cable.

Japan, according to the same authority, will retain the other two cables centering on Yap, one of which extends to Shanghai and the other to the Dutch East Indies.

It is further understood here that in return for complete control of the Yap-Guam cable, the United States will draw further opposition to Japan's mandate over Yap and other former German islands.

TRUST METHODS ARE CHARGED AGAINST PLAYERS-LASKY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Unfair competition in violation of the Federal Trade Commission act and the purchase of stock in competing concerns in violation of the Clayton anti-trust act, were charged against the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and other respondents in formal complaints issued today by the Federal Trade Commission.

SINN FEINERS' REPLY TO LAST NOTE DUE

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—R. C. Barton and Joseph MacGrath were scheduled to arrive at London at 4 p. m. today with the reply of Eamonn de Valera, president of the "Irish Republic," to the last note of Premier Lloyd George relative to a settlement of the Irish question.

The communication was in reply to Lloyd George's note of last Friday, offering to continue the direct negotiations if the Sinn Fein would nominate peace commissioners. It is understood the Irish note accepts the premier's offer. It is believed here that direct negotiations will have been resumed between Eamonn de Valera and Lloyd George either in London or Scotland, before another week has elapsed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—President Harding has drafted and signed a proclamation of martial law in West Virginia. Secretary of War Weeks announced this afternoon.

Issuance of the proclamation is withheld until tomorrow noon, the time limit set for the armed forces to disperse, the secretary said.

General Bandholtz, who will represent the President in West Virginia, has been given a copy of the proclamation in order that he may put it into effect immediately upon decision of the President to issue it.

MINERS' ARMY IS GROWING LARGER

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Hundreds of miners are swarming into Marmet, ten miles east of here, today, according to a report brought here by a man who passed through Marmet early this morning. The miners, it is said, were going in the direction of Boone county and practically all of them were carrying rifles or other arms.

BLAIR MOUNTAIN IS ATTACKED BY MINERS

LOGAN, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Miners were routed in the first engagement in Logan county at 7 a. m. Sheriff Don Chafin, in an official statement, declared a force of miners occupied the town of Blaser during the night. This morning the men charged up Blair Mountain from the town. Logan sheriffs and deputies in their first line of defense at the top of Blair Mountain repelled the attack and the miners retreated to the town. No casualties were reported.

COURIERS SPREAD PRESIDENT'S ORDER

MADISON, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Couriers are traveling to outlying regions of the West Virginia mine fields today carrying to the striking miners President Harding's proclamation calling upon them to disperse and return to their homes before noon tomorrow or face the alternative of rigid martial law.

Because of interrupted telephone service many of the bands of miners assembled in Logan and Mingo counties had not received word of the President's action today, and it was because of this that couriers were sent out. It is believed that it will be late today before all of the miners will be notified.

Marching miners are passing through here early today to join the assemblage of 3500 men already at Jeffery. They are a continuation of the stream of striking miners that has been pouring through here for two days. All are armed.

There were no new developments today in connection with the seizure of a train by miners. The train was used to transport strikers from the Little Coal river and Danville districts to the concentratin camp at Jeffery. The train was returned to the yards here.

SELECTION OF NEW CHIEF OF POLICE IS DISCUSSED

Several candidates for the office of chief of police appeared before the City Council at its special meeting last night, and later, members assembled as a committee of the whole and discussed them. No decision was reached and no appointment will be made until after Mr. Reeves is inducted into office as city manager.

While the appointing power under the charter resides with the city manager, it is subject to the approval of the Council, and no appointment will be made until all are agreed in the matter.

The following candidates were present: John L. Scales, 434 Piedmont Park, Glendale. He stated that he had been a member of the police department in Evansville, Ind., for 12 years, as patrolman, motorcycle cop and detective. He has been on the Glendale police force since March 1.

A. Paul, 126 West Chestnut street, filed no references or statements of qualifications but said he would present them if requested to do so.

A. O. Martin, 1717 Walworth avenue, stated he had served as special investigator in the United States Secret Service and as a special agent for the Department of Justice in Chicago, that he had been a special investigator for Weihi's Agency in that city, and house detective at the Hotel La Salle, Chicago also that he served for a short time as chief of police of Pasadena.

The application of James L. Brown of this city, contained the follow-

BREAD RIOTS BREAK OUT IN RUSSIA

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 31.—Bread riots have broken out in the Russian provinces of Tambov, Voronezh, Kursk and Orel, said a dispatch to the Berlinski Tidende today.

Red troops refused to fire upon the rioters. In some districts the rioting is reported to be taking on a revolutionary character. Famine, cholera and bubonic plague are ravaging Odessa. The great port is being desolated. The people are without food and persons frequently collapse in the streets. There are no facilities for fighting the plague.

BABY HAS NAMES A PLENTY

ing list of references: Hon. T. Duckworthy, district attorney of San Bernardino county; Walter Shay, sheriff of San Bernardino county.

These were the only candidates present. Others who have filed applications and who have been interviewed by Mr. Reeves are: William A. Loving of Campbell road, North Glendale; Otto C. Preischel of 2626 Orchard avenue, Los Angeles, who has seen service as a police officer in Detroit; S. E. Doty, 1130 Lemoyne street, Los Angeles, who was a police officer in San Diego for eight years.

HINDUS IMPRESSED BY REBELS WHO RIOT IN INDIA

Large Number Is Entrenched Awaiting Attack of Advancing British Troops

(By International News Service)

MADRAS, India, Aug. 31.—Major General Burnett Stuart was today appointed commander of the British military forces in the martial law district of Malabar. The martial law zone has been extended.

Violence continues. A span of the great bridge at Thuppanad was blown up. Trees have been felled across the roads. The sky at night is red with the flames of burning farmsteads and forests. The rebels are forcibly collecting arms and impressing Hindus. Telegraph and telephone wires are being cut and railroad tracks torn up.

Five thousand Indian rebels are entrenched around Tirurangadi mosque, said a Calcutta dispatch to the Evening News. A British column that was moving to attack the Moplas was attacked and bombed.

OUTBREAKS CONTINUE

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Another sanguinary clash was reported from Madras, India, today. A hostile crowd obstructed a group of Hindus in their work and stoned the police when the latter intervened. The police retaliated by charging the crowd with rifle fire. The number of casualties is not given.

BUILDING IN AUGUST BOUNDS TO NEW HIGH RECORD

Sum of $548,545 Exceeds All Previous Figures—Total for Year $2,867,469

The August building record has set a mark that will not soon be distanced. Up to noon today the total was $548,545 and that for the year thus far, $2,867,469. The highest previous total was reached in August of 1920, and it was $517,248.

ANOTHER AMERICAN DIRIGIBLE BURNED

ROCKAWAY, N. Y., Aug. 31.—One hangar and a "baby" dirigible balloon were destroyed at the Rockaway naval air station today while air crews were "cleaning up" the station. No one was injured.

The huge hangar was burned to the ground with a loss of $100,000. The Rockaway station was established during the war as part of New York's aerial defenses.

The cause of the disaster was not clear, naval officers at the station declaring there had been no explosion.

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

GRANITE CITY, Ill., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Mont Keaton and Mrs. Mary Craig were killed here today when a Wabash passenger train demolished the automobile in which they were riding. They were en route to a hospital to visit Mrs. Craig's daughter, who was to have undergone an operation. William Radcliffe Craig, II, the third occupant of the car, miraculously escaped death. He was seriously injured but will live.

APPEAL SENT TO MERCHANTS

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Retail merchants throughout the United States are asked to join in an appeal sent out today by Marshall Field & Co. to join in a fight against the American valuation plan of the Fordney tariff bill. More than 25,000 merchants have been asked to send strong protest against the plan to congressmen.

The appeal warns that retention of the proposed valuation feature in the Fordney measure will be "destructive to business" and will add confusion to a market "that has already been frightened into partial paralysis."

KEPT HIS PROMISE

(By International News Service)
FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 31.—Twelve years ago, in Poland, Tony Bergman, then thirteen, told Rosea Oberhaut, eight, that some day he'd send for her. The child fiancée promised she'd wait. Tony kept his promise. Rosea has arrived. She's Mrs. Tony Bergman now—wife of an American world war veteran.

A SOUTHERN PACIFIC STATION NEEDED AT GLENDALE

Peter L. Ferry, Chairman of Committee, Reports on Campaign for Service

The question of having the Southern Pacific trains which pass through Glendale every day stop at this place was brought up at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday at 12:30 o'clock. Peter L. Ferry, chairman of the special railroad committee, which was appointed at the meeting of the Chamber last week to take care of this particular railroad proposition, said that while it had been impossible for him and his committee to do anything definite that, could be reported to the board of directors, he had secured some of the time tables of the Southern Pacific Railway company.

"I find," said Mr. Ferry, "that no less than twelve trains go through Glendale daily in each direction, making 24 trains in all. It seems to me that we should be able to get this company to stop at least a few of these trains at Glendale. I think that if we go after this matter in the proper way we will be successful in this matter. The proper way, I think, would be to go to the officials of the company in a kindly spirit and ask them if they will not give us the train service we desire."

Many years ago the Southern Pacific company used to stop their trains, or at least several of their trains daily at Glendale. The station at that time was located on the San Fernando road close to where the old winery now stands. At that time this line received considerable of the traffic between Glendale and Los Angeles. Its only competitor was the Salt Lake line, which was located on the eastern side of the valley. The time came, however, when the Pacific Electric line was pushed up through the center of the valley and from that time the business of the Southern Pacific company fell off to such an extent that the officials of the company decided that it was not worth their while to retain the station at Glendale and to have the trains of the company stop here. Upon forming this decision the company removed its station and refused to permit its trains to stop here.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce believes that it is time that the train schedule between Glendale and points north and south on the Southern Pacific line should be resumed. They feel that Glendale is entitled to something in the way of service from this railroad company. To this end the committee, which was appointed for this special purpose is working. It is very desirable, also, that in addition to stopping its trains here, the company should construct a station at Glendale such as would be a credit to the place. The Chamber is willing to do everything it can to bring these desired improvements about.

In view of the fact that considerable street improvement and the construction of homes is pressing westward, and that soon the territory in which the Southern Pacific Railroad company's tracks are located will be built up with homes of an attractive character, it would seem that it is really advisable that the railroad company give this matter its careful attention.

This special committee on railroads was constituted and it is the hope of the members of the committee that they will have something definite to report to the chamber of commerce at the next regular meeting next Tuesday noon.

"Martha Malicia Goes Shopping"

WHAT A MARVELOUS SETTING!

"WHY IT'S—IT'S JUST LIKE a wonderful living room, isn't it?" Now you have the keynote of the success of the ARTISTIC BRUNSWICK SHOPPE's booth at the Exposition! Like a beautifully appointed living room it is—with its exquisite gray plush drapes, lovely ferns and beautiful rose lamps! But, oh! the most wonderful part of it I haven't touched yet, for in one corner, is the magical Ampico, the Chickering reproducing piano, and then the golden-toned Brunswick—in three models—the stately Gotham, the handsome Stratford, and a popular sized cabinet machine in mahogany! At each performance, you may hear Joe Rose singing the latest popular songs, or any requested numbers, to piano accompaniment! The very latest sheet music and records are on sale and may be demonstrated right there in the booth—and there is also a representative list of Brunswick records available—so if you're anxious to select your new records and see the exposition too, you may do both, right at the same time! And upon request, you will be given absolutely free, a merchandise order on the Brunswick Shoppe, at 126 South Brand boulevard, worth $1.00! Yes, and each evening there is a new Brunswick record given away to the person holding the "lucky number," admission ticket.

A piece of clothing fastened to a combination skirt and coat hanger will enable one to keep clothing fresh while traveling. By means of the webbing the hanger can be fastened to the curtains of a pullman berth.

AN INVITATION

SCHOOL DAYS ARE ALMOST HERE! Yes, there is only a short while left in which to fix the little man up for his advent into the school world—so you'd better take him down to ROBINSON'S MEN'S SHOP, at 116-A South Brand boulevard, where you'll find everything for men and boys—from six years up! There are the dear little Tom Sawyer blouses, that are so "all boy" that he will be surely proud to wear them, corded or khaki knickers, Bradley, regular school sweaters, Black Cat stockings, Kid Koozies, and the smartest looking Jackie Coogan caps of all them so "mannish" that going to school will be a pleasure! But, oh! he'll simply have to have a "beanie" in his class colors! They are made of felt in the two colors adopted by the classes—and really life wouldn't be worth living without them! To all mothers and fathers and sons, Mr. Robinson extends an earnest invitation to "Meet us at the Exposition"—and really, you'll enjoy their interesting displays, for Robinson's booth is changed every day!

YES, ALMOST HERE!

EVEN THOUGH THE YEAR may still seem young to you—time is flying and Christmas will be here before you can believe it! Have you been preparing for all the Christmas gifts which you will want to buy this year—perhaps wanted to buy last year and couldn't afford? The surest and quickest way to save for the things which you want most, I have found, is a savings account at the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF GLENDALE, on the corner of Brand boulevard and East Broadway! They pay interest at the rate of four per cent—which you see, will amount to

A SACRIFICE

HAVE YOU HEARD?—L. H. ALLISON, of 105 West Broadway, is holding one of the most phenomenal paint sales ever held in Southern California! It has always been Mr. Allison's desire to offer the public the best paint for the least money, and at last it has been realized. Having been a painting contractor in Glendale for over ten years, Mr. Allison is known by hundreds of people for the high character of his work and the unusual quality of the paints which he has used! Thus, you see, he is in a position to judge paints of lasting quality and you may be sure that you are buying the best. By buying paints in exceptionally large quantities, and selling at practically cost, Mr. Allison has now found it possible to inaugurate his sensational "Ten Day Sacrifice Sale!" This is your opportunity to give your home that new coat of paint you've promised for so long—and while you've the chance to buy at such low prices, why not repaint the woodwork and the floors, too? It will certainly be an investment worth making, for if you wait until you simply have to do it—it will cost you just about twice as much! Remember, Allison's Sacrifice Sale is now in progress—having started yesterday—Aug. 30, and will continue for ten days! Print up now!

Heavy manila envelopes labeled with the name of the articles placed therein will serve well as packing cases for the traveler.

IT IS JUST THE THING!

AGAINST GAY CRETONE drapes, what could be cooler in summer or more cheerful in winter than grass furniture from the ENTERPRISE FURNITURE COMPANY, of 216 East Broadway? Yes, it is an ideal for nishing for the new bungalow, for by buying now you will effect quite a saving! And porch rockers, too, are greatly reduced at the Enterprise Furniture Company.

quite a tidy little sum in a year! If you can just form the habit of depositing a specific amount in your savings account for a certain number of weeks, you will then be on the way to Easy Street, for a habit thus formed it is not easily broken! The First National Bank is one of the oldest institutions in Glendale, and most reliable! You will find it a pleasure to do business with them, for "Personal Service" is their watchword—and courtesy is a Paramount issue! Don't wait another week to open that savings account—for each week passed is just one week lost! Now is the time—today, not tomorrow!

MARTHA MALICIA

AND THIS IS THE SECRET OF THEIR WISDOM

IT'S TRUE THAT WISE FOLKS are already buying their Christmas gifts! And that is why they're wise, for aren't they taking advantage of the still prevailing summer prices? FISHER'S VARIETY STORE, at 212 East Broadway, have just received a shipment of fine leather moccasins in all sizes, for infants, children and men and women, and daintily beaded in different colors and designs! Imagine what you'll save by buying now when they're priced as low as 89c to $1.95—according to sizes, of course!

When mending broken china, stand it to "set" in a large box of sawdust. It can be placed in any desired position and its own weight will hold the piece steady while the cement is hardening.

OH! I HOPE YOU DIDN'T MISS IT!

THE AIR WAS SIMPLY filled with "oh-h-h's" and "ah-h-h's" when Classic Marlowe and her six beautiful models displayed the gowns from HATZ'S, at Saturday night's Fashion Revue! And the amazing part of it is that the garments were all taken from Hatz's regular fall stock and put right on the models! There was not one of them that had been borrowed just for the occasion from some obliging wholesaler, nor had one of these lovely suits or gowns been altered the slightest! True, each and every one was a New York or Paris mode—but you see Mr. Hatz's stock is always right up-to-date! There will be more stunning coats, suits and dresses for afternoon, street and evening wear, displayed tonight at the Exposition—and if you were unfortunate enough to miss Saturday's revue—don't fail to be there this evening. Any gown on display that appeals to you, will be laid aside until you can call at the store, 132 South Brand boulevard! And, oh! yes, speaking of their shop reminds me that you must drop in and look over the array of adorable crepe house frocks which Hatz's are offering in a wide variety of colors for only $3.95! during Exposition week! And, all of the fetching little organde gowns in the loveliest of summer shades are marked down to $10.00 for this week!

HOPES

WE'VE ALL DREAMED MORE OR LESS of an ideal home—and secretly cherished the hope that someday that dream might be fulfilled! And now comes J. F. Stanford, of 112½ South Brand boulevard, to fulfill your hearts' desire! J. F. STANFORD, 112½ South your home to suit YOU—with all of the conveniences for which you've yearned—and he'll do it most reasonably, too! Just call Glendale 1940 and before you know it the plans will be drawn up and your "Dream House" will be well under way!

MAKE IT A THING OF BEAUTY!

THE JOY IN HAVING a beautiful home is to be able to entertain one's friends, is it not? And, too, one of the joys of an attractive highly polished, hardwood flooring, is to give one's friends pleasure in dancing upon it! If you call the GLENDALE HARDWOOD FLOORING COMPANY, of 304 East Broadway, you'll find it really quite inexpensive to change that splintery old wood, for a modern hardwood flooring!

A MARVEL!

There are so many, many wonderfully interesting things to be seen at the Exposition—but whatever you do, don't fail to stop at the GLENDALE ELECTRIC COMPANY'S BOOTH! Miss Weaver, the factory representative for the Thor Washing Machine, is giving a scientific demonstration that every housewife will find interesting. Miss Weaver is using the New Thor 32, which has been on display at the Glendale Electric Company's store at 132 North Brand boulevard, and also the new Thor Automatic Electric Ironer! The ironer is truly a marvel—for it is only necessary to sit down—touch a button and just guide your work, and Thor will do the rest! I repeat, whatever else happens, don't miss the Glendale Electric Company's exhibit!

Velvet is combined with taffeta or faille in many dresses.

PEACH TRIFLE

Select perfect, fresh peaches, peel and core and cut in quarters. They should be well sugared, arranged in a trifle dish with a few of their own blanched kernels among them, then heaped with whipped cream, the cream should not be flavored, this trifle should be set on the ice at least an hour before serving! Home made sponge cakes are delicious when served with it.

EXQUISITE FINERY

THE DAINTIEST OF UNDERGARMENTS may be so easily made if you just take them down to BROOKS' SHOPPE, at 123 North Brand boulevard, to be hemstitched or picot edged! Their prices are so much less than city prices and their workmanship is far superior! Stop at Brooks' Shoppe at the Exposition—there you'll see some exquisite samples of their work!

DISTINCTIVE HATS

EVERYONE, EVERYWHERE, is talking about the delightful fall hats which were worn by the H. S. Webb & Company models at the Exposition! It's a secret but I'll tell you from whence they came—THE YARBROUGH HAT SHOP! Oh! I'm not at all surprised that you had guessed it for Yarbrough Hats have a certain "distinctiveness," all their own! At the shop—108 West Broadway, you'll also find a pleasing line of new fall hats, many of them attractive tailored models, and some with just the most charming veils!

PASADENA FRIENDS LAUD MANAGER REEVES

That Glendale has made no mistake in the selection of a city manager is the statement of some Pasadenans who have watched his course as one of the commissioners of the Crown City. He was in charge of the public works department and his record was excellent. A change in the form of Pasadena's government gave him the opportunity to seek employment elsewhere and, according to the persons quoted, Glendale is to be congratulated on securing his services.

Mr. Reeves not only set a high standard of efficiency in his public work, but he was devoted to every interest of Pasadena and was always found on the side of good citizenship.

To quote further: "The people of Pasadena who know him feel confident that, as city manager of Glendale, Mr. Reeves will serve with credit to himself, and safeguard with conscientious devotion and high ability the interests entrusted to him. He has a practical knowledge of engineering and long experience in it. He is a man of decided opinions and ready to contend for what he believes to be right. In his new position he will have far larger opportunities to accomplish necessary tasks than he had in Pasadena. Mr. Reeves is not a man to be driven, but where the course of duty is clear before him he goes without driving."

The citizens of Glendale have watched Mr. Reeves' course since he became identified with the city's life and work, and they see no reason to believe that the above estimates of his character and ability are placed too high.

Coconuts All Year 'Round.

Across Lake Worth, from West Palm Beach, Fla., is Palm Beach, situated on a strip which extends along the Atlantic ocean for many miles. The world famous Royal Poinciana, one of the world's largest hotels, and the Palm Beach hotel, both face Lake Worth. The shores of the lake for miles are fringed with stately coconut trees, always in bearing.

Despise the Savoyards.

Even to the present day the Genevise hate and despise the Savoyards, their hereditary enemies, calling the contemptuous attention of the stranger to the fact that these neighbors of theirs are unthrifty and still make their women work in the fields, as they did in former days. Fifteen minutes' ride in a motorcar will carry one from Geneva into Savoy.

Forming a Bad Habit.

He who allows himself to get into the habit of explaining away his failures will soon find himself trying to explain away other peoples' successes.

on motion of Councilman Stephenson, the matter was referred to the city manager for an investigation of the system and report, before steps to secure appraisal were taken.

LITTLE EDNA PALMER HAS LEG BROKEN UNDER TRUCK

W. E. Palmer, who lives on the Ross ranch in the northern part of Glendale, assured The Press last night that his 5-year-old daughter Edna, whose right leg was crushed under a wheel of his 5-ton truck Monday night, "Salonica." The extent along well—though of course suffering intensely. The large bone between knee and thigh was broken and splintered, and of course the flesh was torn and bruised. X-ray pictures were taken of the fractures and the bone will be set today, said Mr. Palmer. Asked for particulars of the accident, the father said he had one of his drivers, Charlie Carlin, drive the truck up to his home from Broadway and Glendale avenue. As he drove into the yard Charlie lost control some way, and the truck headed toward the three older children, Earl, Edna and Eugene, who were playing near the house. The mother saw their danger and rushed to their aid, narrowly escaping being run down herself. She flung Eugene to safety, pushed Earl out of the way, but could not reach Edna before the monster truck was upon her, and the big wheel passed over the little one's leg. She was hurried to a hospital for treatment. She is of strong and sturdy build, with her body in the finest condition, so it is thought she will come through without being lamed for life. The father has had considerable experience in hurts of this kind, having had his right leg broken three times and has the large bone between knee and ankle held together by a silver plate 8 inches long.

"We Must Sail, Not Drift."

I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving, writes O. W. Holmes. To reach the port of heaven, we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it—but we must sail, and not drift, nor lie at anchor.

Make a Friend of Him.

Treat your enemy as generously as you treat your friend, and it may end in your having two friends and no enemy. Which is much better.

WATER SERVICE FOR ANNEXED VIOLA DISTRICT

A special meeting of the City Council was held last evening in the council chamber to consider a series of communications from ex-City Manager Watson, and some other matters brought up by members, and immediately thereafter, or about 8:30, the Council adjourned to meet as a committee of the whole for the consideration of candidates for the office of chief of police.

One of the most important of the above referred to communication concerned the furnishing of water service to the Viola district, annexed to Glendale on August 2.

The city manager pointed out that the principal object of residents of the district in annexing to Glendale was the securing of this service. It is now served by what is known as the Kelley Water System. The communication quoted a letter received from W. W. Lee, trustee of the Kelley Water System, expressing a desire to sell the system to the city, and suggesting the appointment of appraisers for the purpose of ascertaining its value.

Mr. Reeves' communication stated there are 53 consumers who are now being served by that system, of whom 37 are now within the city limits of Glendale, and said further:

"With the extension of trunk line on Pacific avenue from Doran to Stocker streets, as proposed under plans for the laying of service mains from the proceeds of the $100,000 bond issue as set forth in our report of the 25th inst., the City will be in a position to take on this extra service in this section without detriment to the consumers now being served in that vicinity. In fact, with a few minor additional installations, the Kelley Water System will fit in nicely with the distributing system in that section, and the 6-inch service main of that system on Central avenue extending south from Kenneth road, when connected up with the city main on Kenneth road, will serve as an additional service main for the system in that section."

"As I understand it, the owners of this property are willing to sell it to the City at a valuation fixed in the usual manner by a board of appraisers."

"In addition to desiring at as early a date as possible the advantages of city water service and also city rates, the people of that section are anxious to have removed as soon as possible the large water tank that is a part of the Kelley System, and which is quite unsightly and objectionable on that account."

"I am sure the early consideration of this matter by your Council will be greatly appreciated by the people of the Viola district."

In the discussion which followed, Councilman Kimlin called attention to the policy followed in the case of other annexed districts where an assessment district, as in the Grand View territory, has been formed and bonds voted to finance a distributing system. He wondered whether the people of the Viola district would want to buy the Kelley System.

Mayor Robinson suggested that Mr. Diederich be sent out to excavate around some of the pipes and ascertain their character and condition, and

Chamber of Commerce Hears Petition to Switch Mail From Burbank to Glendale—Is Meeting With Approval of Newly Annexed District of Glendale

A very important question which came before the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting yesterday noon was that of securing adequate mail facilities for the residents of the Grand View district, which section was annexed to Glendale some time ago. It was brought up by Richardson D. White who, in discussing the matter, said:

"I was with Assistant Secretary Sanders a few days ago when he was working in the Grand View district. When the proposition was put up to the people of that section, fairly and squarely, a number of them came into the chamber. There was one feature about the work of securing new members there, and that was, that although these people were willing and, in fact, anxious to sign up, they were almost ashamed to give their mail address. The reason for this is that all the people in that district are still getting their mail through the Burbank postoffice and by way of a rural delivery. It seems to me that some strenuous efforts should be made by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to see that these people, who are now in Glendale, are given city mail service through the Glendale office."

Secretary Rhoades Reports

In replying to Mr. White, Secretary Rhoades said:

"In regard to this matter, I wish to inform the board that a petition is now being circulated among the residents of that section, asking that the mail for that locality be sent through the Glendale postoffice instead of the Burbank office. Up to this time the petition has not been offered to all of the residents of that locality, but all those who have seen it have signed. I am quite sure that by the next meeting of the board I will be able to present this petition, and I am quite certain that at that time it will be signed by all of the residents of the Grand View district."

Working for Delivery

The people of that section, to a man, want their mail to come through the Glendale office and they are doing everything they can to secure this much needed improvement. To this end, the Glendale Chamber of Commerce is doing everything that it can. Nothing will be left undone that would assist in securing for these newcomers into Glendale, adequate mail service. As soon as the petition is received, it will be forwarded to the proper authorities with an urgent request that something be done in the matter without delay.

FAIR DEAL WILL BE REQUESTED FROM TIMES BY C. OF C.

Publicity Concerning Glendale Is Minimized—Committee Named To See Editors

Attention of the Board of Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was directed yesterday by Jesse Smith, to the fact that Glendale is not getting its share of publicity from the Los Angeles Times.

"I have noticed," said Mr. Smith, "that when anything happens in some of the smaller places around Los Angeles, a notice of that event is given a position in the Times where it can be seen, but when anything happens in Glendale it is generally stuck on a back page. I do not know why this is, but it seems to me that we should try to do something in the matter. It seems that paper is always trying to give us the 'black eye,' as they say."

Police Officers Ignored

"For instance, one of our officers captured a check forger, who, it has been learned, is an old-time criminal. From reading the article a person would hardly know that the officer who made this spectacular capture was from Glendale. It tried to make it appear that a Los Angeles man effected the arrest. Then, too, the other day the La Canada residents voted that for high school purposes they would join with Pasadena instead of with Glendale. The next morning the Times came out with the headline in large type, 'Pasadena Wins, Glendale is Turned Down.' It seems to be this paper's ambition to slam Glendale and for one I do believe we should not stand for it."

Committee Appointed

Secretary Rhoades suggested that a committee be appointed to wait on the managing editor of the Times, and to see if something cannot be done toward a fair deal being given to Glendale. He thought that better and more favorable action could be secured if the proposition was handled in this manner. Several other members of the board thought likewise, so a committee consisting of Jesse Smith, W. E. Hewitt and Peter Ferry was appointed with instructions to go down to the Times office and see what can be done in this matter. It was suggested and it is understood that Assistant Secretary Sanders will accompany the committee on this trip to Los Angeles and to try to help solve this problem.

INCREASE SHOWN BY SOUTHERN PACIFIC INCOME RETURN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31. — The Southern Pacific Company's statement of earnings and expenses for the month of July, issued from New York, shows a slight increase in the company's net railway operating income for the month, compared with the July, 1920, income, over that of June, compared with the June, 1920, income. The net railway operating income for July was $3,453,454.15, an increase of $462,890.31 over that of July, 1920. The net railway operating income for June was $3,180,714.53, an increase of $363,397.32 over that of June, 1920. The net revenue from railway operations was $5,174,606.84, an increase of $782,079.09 over that of July, 1920, while in June the net revenue from railway operations was $4,917,097.04, which was a decrease of $577,638.03 from the net revenue from railway operations in June, 1920.

The railway operating revenue for July was $22,627,508.14, as compared with $23,044,227.75 for June.

Reduced Freight

G. W. Luce, freight traffic manager, announces that the southern carriers have concurred in the reductions of rates on dried beans and peas, canned goods, condensed milk, canned salmon, dried fruit and rice, published effective August 22, from Pacific Coast territory to eastern points north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

This, according to Luce, means that these rates will now be placed in effect to points in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Virginia and the Carolinas, and will enable the Pacific Coast shippers to reach that territory at the same reduced rates that have been published to points north of the Ohio river. Luce states that application is be-

SANDERS' SPEED IS SMOKE PRODUCER; GETS HAVANAS

Board of Directors Present Him With a Gift That Makes Him Blush

Assistant Secretary E. F. Sanders has been crowned the king of rustlers. At the meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday, Mr. Sanders was given the surprise of his young life. He was called right up on the carpet and informed that as a reward for the results secured by him in the work of getting new members for the chamber, more than a hundred new members being secured in something like three weeks, he was to be presented with a box of good Havana cigars. Needless to say, the entire affair was very "sudden" to Mr. Sanders. He blushed a pretty red, clasped his hands and again quite excitedly, then rose and in a "few chosen words" spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, it is certainly a very agreeable surprise to me to be given this token. I want to assure you that I appreciate it in the extreme. It would be hard for me to tell you just how I feel. Of course, I like a good Havana cigar, but to me, this box contains something more than mere cigars—I know it contains the good will of all of you. I deeply appreciate the spirit that prompted you to make this gift to me. I am glad to know that you gentlemen appreciate the little effort I have put into this work, and I want to assure you that this work, from the start, had been exceedingly enjoyable to me. Every minute has been a pleasure."

Big Rally Coming

"But I would tell you, gentlemen, that so far as securing new members to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce is concerned, the work has just started. The advance guard has been engaged and the real battle is to begin with the grand rally that we intend to hold at the big tent next Tuesday evening. If we have had a little success thus far in the drive for new members, I firmly believe that the real work is just starting and the real success is still to come. The meeting that we will hold in the big tent will get the people of this city talking about the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and that is just what we want. We will then strike while the iron is hot, and I firmly believe that you and I may expect some wonderful results."

Former members of the 363rd Infantry met Tuesday night at 522 Wilcox building, Second and Spring streets, Los Angeles, and arranged for the reception of a boatload of their former comrades who are coming from San Francisco to attend the reunion of the Ninety-first Division, to be held in Los Angeles, September 24 and 25. The Southern California members of the regiment plan to meet the men from the north with a band and special train at the boat. Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco, the "Father of the Regiment," is to be the principal speaker at a banquet to be held Saturday night, September 24.

Farm Lands Without Crops

About one-fifth of a billion acres of the cut-over land and woodland in the United States might be cleared up and the stumps removed so that the land would be available for productive farming. If all this agriculturally suitable forest and cut-over land could be made into farms averaging 160 acres, it would provide 1,250,000 farms, an increase of about 20 per cent over the present number. It is believed unlikely that more than 50,000,000 acres, or enough for perhaps 300,000 farms will be the government assumes responsibility.

SALE IS NEGOTIATED FOR GRAND VIEW WATER BONDS

City Manager Watson will be a popular man in the newly annexed Grand View district, for he has been able to negotiate the sale of water bonds of that territory, known as Municipal District No. 4. As the district is exceedingly anxious to secure water service, which was one of the strong incentives for annexation to Glendale, the news will doubtless be received there with great rejoicing.

In his letter to the City Council, reporting his action in the matter, Mr. Watson said:

"In regard to the sale of the $30,000 bonds of Municipal Improvement District No. 4.

"These bonds bear 5 per cent interest and will not sell at par on the market at the present time. We understand they would have to sell at about a 5 per cent discount."

"We wrote L. C. Brand in regard to these bonds on June 8, stating that we realized they would not sell readily at par on the market, but expressed the hope he might be able to assist in disposing of them."

"At the request of a committee from the Grand View Improvement Association, we conferred with Mr. Brand in regard to this matter last Saturday afternoon, explaining in detail that the funds were to be used for the installation of a water distributing system in the Grand View district, in accordance with the wishes of the voters and property holders of that section, who thoroughly understand the plan and are very anxious to have the matter proceed without delay."

"Mr. Brand very kindly agreed to purchase the bonds at par and accrued interest, subject to the approval of the legal proceedings by Attorney J. C. Johnson of New York city. We therefore arranged for the sale of these bonds to L. C. Brand, subject to the approval of your Council, and have notified bidders on pipe and fittings or the Grand View distributing system that they may figure their bids on a cash basis."

Congestion Indicated by Growth of City During Summer Will Be Met by Board Establishing Portable Buildings on Grounds Until More Money Is Obtained

Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, says if the enrollment increases this year as it did last year—and there is no reason to expect any diminution in the percentage—the board will be put to desperate straights to accommodate all the pupils. For this reason board members are considering the purchase of two or more portable school bungalows, similar to those the Los Angeles system is using. They are now investigating the prices of such buildings, believing they may prove the easiest avenue out of the dilemma.

Building Program Upset

The postponement of the election to vote bonds for additional school buildings which was made necessary by the change in government from a city of the sixth class to a government under a city charter, set the building program back several months, but at the same time the bonding capacity of the city for school purposes increased.

Building Not Possible in Time

Under any bond issue that can now be called buildings cannot be erected soon enough to be of much service the coming school year. The board must therefore make emergency provisions. The portable bungalows could be sold when they were no longer needed for school purposes here and the investment would be reduced to the minimum.

Under the contract awarded Peter Ferry for putting floors in the two basement rooms of the Central Avenue school, carpenters will begin work there today.

Ferry Gets Contracts

Mr. Ferry was also given the contract for sidewalk and flag pole at the Broadway school, for sidewalks and drinking fountain at Intermediate, the three jobs amounting to $1400.

Rate on P. E.

In response to Mr. White's request for prices on ticket books for school children, General Passenger Agent Smith of the Pacific Electric railroad quoted a rate of $2.30 for books of 46 rides from the Grand View district to the Central Avenue school, or 10c for the round trip. Of this amount the board would undertake to pay 4c.

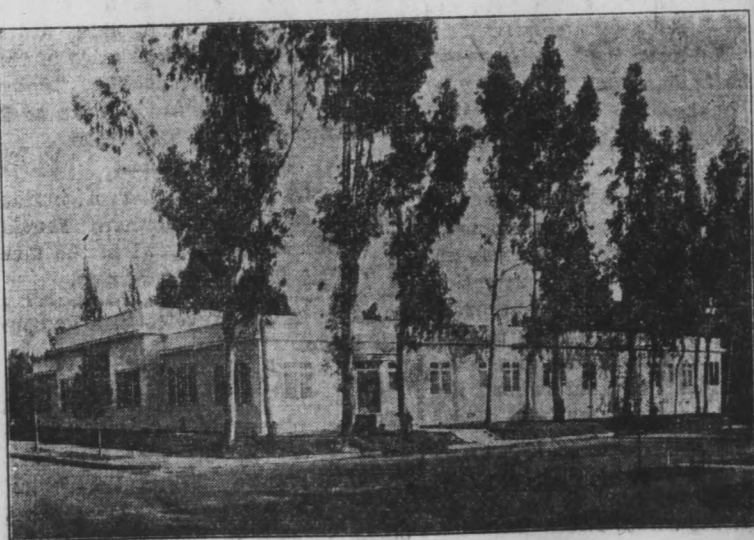

which would leave the cost to the children but 6c.

The rate for children going to Intermediate from Pacific avenue and North Glendale was $2.30 for 46 rides, and from Vine street $3.31. So far the board has not agreed to pay car fare for any children except those of the first six grades going from the Grand View district to Central avenue, and in that case it is undertaking to pay only a part of the fare. Members deemed it best, however, to get rates so the children would know what they would have to pay.

Advisory Committee Enlarged

Members of the advisory committee of nineteen, which has been enlarged by the election of E. H. Learned of the Grand View district, will meet with the board of education at its next meeting to review the findings of the sub-committees appointed to get figures on the land additions to school grounds which have been proposed, and also estimates on the cost of the proposed new Intermediate the proposed three to four room school building for Grand View district, and additional rooms in many of the grade schools. At that meeting it is hoped the board of education with the help of the advisory committee, will be in a position to decide on the amount of the proposed bond issue for school purposes. The advisory committee consist of Oliver Clark, C. H. Crawford, Roy L. Kent, C. A. Cole, H. V. Henry, George H. Moore, Wm. C. Wattles, F. E. Wilkinson, Harry Hague, Charles L. Chandler, Mesdames Peter Biederich, B. C. Horner, E. B. Moore, W. E. Halstead, Amy I. Campbell, Gladys Esselman, E. S. McKee, and H. V. Browne.

THOUGHTS ON GLENDALE

What has been said by some of the world's largest real estate operators about Los Angeles and its future growth can be aptly applied to Glendale. There is a reason why Glendale is enjoying such a healthy growth at this time, and back of this reason are facts based on solid concrete foundation. First of all, we are, as citizens of Glendale, living in the closest residential suburb of Los Angeles. Los Angeles, it is prophesied, within 30 years, will be the largest city in the United States, and there is every reason to substantiate this argument. In talking with the home seekers every day who are coming to Glendale the majority of them have in mind one common cause or reason for selecting our fair city for their future home.

The main reason offered is that they are seeking a place with environments suitable for the rearing of their children, also a place close to the big city for business reasons and last, but not least, a place that offers a reasonable opportunity for their investments, which shows a promise of a fair return on the money invested. Such a place is Glendale and, more than that, our climate is unsurpassed within the borders of the United States. Only recently a noted traveler remarked that the scenery of Switzerland cannot be compared with the scenery of the valley surrounding Glendale on all sides.

These things we Glendaleans all know and are sending calls back East every day to inform our relatives and friends what this beautiful city has to offer to them. Our postal receipts for one month will verify the statement that we are crowding them out of house and home. Uncle Sam is slow to see conditions here as they really are, but do not fear but what he will have ample quarters within a short time to take care of the large increase in the population that is forcing itself upon us every day.

The outstanding question of this matter is this: What are you doing as a future citizen of Glendale to protect yourself with a building site for a home? The cold facts stare us in the face stronger and stronger every day, and they point to but one thing, and the seriousness of the situation should be carefully considered at once.

Now is the time to buy lots and homes in Glendale, while you have the choice of locations on established and close-in thoroughfares.

The wise buyers offer this argument, and it is well put: What are a few hundred dollars one way or the other when compared with location? The close-in lots and homes are worth more, but the city is only in its infancy and, no matter what the present price, the increase is sure to come. They say that many of our old-time residents have grown to see things with such a close range that our newcomers are making many of the wise purchases. Well, so much the better, for such a condition makes room for all, but put this down in plain English: The oldtimers are not all asleep. The time to strike is now.

A pessimist frequently gets that way by backing optimists.

A tariff by any other name is still a tax.

DAILY DRIFT

The expenditures of the Philippine government now exceed the revenues. Surely those people have learned all we can teach them.

You can tell the age of an ordinary tree by the number of rings. The age of the family tree is indicated by the amount of bragging.

In order to encourage the idea of peace, histories of the war might use a cottie instead of a general as a frontpiece.

Many discoveries are made by accident, and the home-brewers may yet evolve a satisfactory substitute for gasoline.

Best "Close-up" of the Moon
The best "close-up" photograph of the moon brings our nightly visitor to a point where a map may be made on the scale of 50 miles to the inch.

Before the war out of every dollar collected by the railroads in this country, between 40 and 50 cents was paid out in wages. Now 60 cents is paid out in wages.

The Belgian Mining Commission has ordered a reduction of 5 per cent in wages of miners, to take effect at once.

Since 1910 the Pennsylvania Railroad has laid 56,230,904 new cross ties and 1,247,289 tons of new rails.

Motor-driven appliances to the number of 2,000,000, it is estimated, will be produced in 1920, washing machines, ironing machines, dishwashers, vacuum cleaners, sewing machines and refrigerators being included.

The United States contains more than one-half of the world's total known supply of coal.

All Harvard students are now required to take some active part in athletics. There is no longer any line drawn between the students who go in for development above the collar and those who favor development below the collar.

The first coffee house established in London was 1652. Coffee was heard of in France in 1658, and became fashionable in Paris in 1669.

During the last six years the wage increases granted to British shipyard workers ranged from 121 to 204 per cent.

In New York State in January, 1921, the number of factory workers was 25 per cent less than in January, 1920.

France Developing Water Power
The water power of France is estimated at 10,000,000 horsepower, as compared with 7,000,000 horsepower for Norway and 6,000,000 horsepower for Sweden.

Before the war only about 750,000 horsepower was used, but a further 450,000 horsepower was developed during the war, and by the end of 1921, 1,600,000 horsepower, or 16 per cent of France's resources, will be worked.

Colors That Fade.
Aniline colors often fade to entirely different colors, while vegetable dyes usually fade to tones of their own particular color. The finest Oriental rugs owe their soft, wonderful colors entirely to vegetable dyes. In fact, the Persian government has for years prohibited the importation of aniline dyes.

STOCKMARKET

Don't allow yourself to lapse into the mental rut which associates Bear drives against prices with continued stagnation of business. To judge from indications immediately under the surface we should say that a considerable volume of business is going on all the time. Quite a number of investors have picked up bargains on the minor fluctuations in stocks during the last week.

Some people do not seem to understand that a stock or a bond must be sold at a higher price than purchased before money can be made on the investment. Of course, the transactions of the "Bears" is the reverse of this. The big paper profits pocketed by the public at top of a bull market are not real profits, though the money is real enough, because it is the discreet selling, during boom periods, by the long-pull investors who dig down and produce the actual stock and throw it on the market that eventually wipes out the paper profits of the general public.

We should buy stocks while the public is buying, but we should also sell them while the public is still in the buying mood. Buying when the public is buying and selling when the public is selling is certain disaster. Hence, it is practically impossible to make money in the Stockmarket for those who blindly "go with the public."

We contend that business will not be on firm foundation until the farmers gather their crops and sell a portion of them, thus easing up the financial situation. This should mean that by next Spring, or by the first of March, business should definitely begin to increase in a constantly growing volume. If, then, we are correct in our opinion that the Stockmarket will start up approximately six months ahead of this expected definite revival in business, we ought to be able to safely make the prediction that about the middle of October the Stockmarket should begin to discount coming improvement in business by starting the real bull market.

Certainly, even the most discouraged must admit that the United States has enough physical assets to enjoy a period of prosperity which should last many years. Lastly, it seems to us that prices have taken a turn for the better, particularly in grains and cotton. And as gold is flowing to our shores in unprecedented volumes, in fact, we already hold 40 per cent of the total supply of gold in the world, the credit situation should ease even further. The continued "thawing out of frozen credits" means that money is going to be available for legitimate business enterprises.

RAILROAD stocks have been unsteady lately, but the time is approaching when they should be better. We call your attention to investment rails such as Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and New York Central.

EQUIPMENT stocks, although under considerable pressure from time to time, show resiliency, and as the railroads are in need of equipment, we believe that such stocks as American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, and American Car & Foundry, together with Haskell-Barker and Pressed Steel Car, ought to show a substantial advance within six months' time.

STEEL stocks seem to be on the bargain counter, especially if the country enters a RECONSTRUCTION BOOM. The stocks which ought to benefit are United States, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Iron and Steel, and Midvale Steel.

OIL stocks have been affected by the drop in Mexican Petroleum, but Sinclair looks very cheap. We would advise picking up some Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, Sinclair Consolidated, Pierce Oil, Pacific and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

If the Fordney tariff bill goes through as now outlined we shall have a period of inflation in this country. And this, in turn, may have a fundamental influence on commodity and security prices of much more far-reaching extent than the average investor will admit.

What is inflation, anyway? We take it to mean that the relations of money and credit in the country is rapidly exceeding the amount of goods and merchandise. Here you get the real reason behind the amazing rise in commodity prices during the war, observes Sugarman's Indicator.

Rising commodity prices mean bigger profits to manufacturing companies, a steepest stock of goods on the shelves goes up faster than wages. They have a bigger margin of profit and cannot help but make money. At present, production is at low ebb, but meantime gold continues to come into the country in great volume. During the ten days ended June 20 imports of gold to the United States from all countries amounted to $14,704,725, making the imports of the yellow metal since the first of 1921 reach the huge total of $338,420,406. The imports during the same period were only $6,386,388. Our imports of silver during this same ten days amounted to $763,317, bringing the total since January 21, 1921, to $25,718,544.

There is nothing the matter with the bond market, but there is a lot the matter with the public, which does not seem to realize the present chance of picking up dollar values at the rate of 75 cents!

It is actually possible to purchase such well-known, old-line securities as Chesapeake & Ohio Convertible 4½'s at around 76½, Southern Pacific Refunding 4's at 76, Computing, Tabulating & Recording 6's at around 71, and Bush Terminal Bldg. 5's at around 73. All these bonds are well secured, and at their prevailing prices give you the opportunity of buying one thousand American dollars for less than seventy-five cents each. In addition to this, you will receive interest payments at the stipulated figure, based on the par value of the bond.

These opportunities for accumulating high-grade securities at remarkable discounts do not last forever, and even now we find that the average price of railroad, public utility and industrial bonds has advanced about one and five-eighths points from the low of May, 1920. This indicates that the bond market is on the advance. As we remain something like thirteen points below the average high of January, 1919, profit-taking possibilities are still in evidence, although each day discounts these opportunities somewhat.

THE THREE-MILE SMILE
Of course, if you don't live on our pirate haunted seaboard it may be a waste of time to state that there is now a popular institution in the offing fondly referred to as the "three-mile smile," and that is the limit, really!—Sugarman's Indicator.

According to the law of the land it is a crime to give away liquor. Another of those fool laws that prohibits what nobody wants to do anyhow!—Sugarman's Indicator.

Oil Production Doubles

In single decade Here are figures that speak for themselves. The world's oil production in 1904 was 218,204,000 barrels and in 1910 it had increased to 328,000,000 barrels. The war demand jumped production to 508,687,000 barrels in 1917, and the 1920 production was officially estimated at 688,474,000 barrels. In other words, the world's production of oil has more than doubled in the decade closing last year! observes Sugarman's Indicator. The production of crude petroleum in the United States back in 1904 was only 117,081,000 barrels. By 1910 this production had grown to 209,557,008 barrels and in 1917 amounted to 335,316,000 barrels. 1920 production is placed by the U. S. Geological Survey at 443,462,000 barrels. Consumption in the United States did not exceed production in 1911. In that year the consumption was 211,000,000 barrels and the production 220,449,000 barrels. In 1916, however, our consumption of petroleum exceeded production by almost 19,000,000 barrels. During 1920 the consumption of crude petroleum in the United States amounted to 531,136,000 barrels and our production was only 443,402,000 barrels. Hence, we say that the United States is probably dependent upon imports to meet the enormous consumption needs. Evidently there is a big demand for oil right here in America.

GRAIN PRICES ADVANCE

The hot weather in July and general scarcity of rain reduced the expected yield of wheat, corn, and oats, and advancing prices were the result. The July wheat decrease registered 2,000,000 bushels, says Sugarman's Indicator. The preliminary winter wheat estimated production was placed at 544,000,000 bushels and of Spring wheat 213,000,000 bushels. Its condition is low at only 66.6 per cent as against a normal of 80.8 per cent in the month of July. The condition of corn for the month of July was placed at 84.3 as compared with a normal of 91.1. Yield of corn is estimated at 3,032,000,000 bushels. The hot weather has played havoc with the oat crop, its July estimated yield being 54.5 as against 77.6 and a total estimated yield of 1,137,000,000 bushels. It is our belief that the end is not yet in the advancing markets for grain futures.

Cost of living going down! Between June last and May, this year, there was a decrease of 16.7 per cent for the country. This figure was based upon the range of prices in 32 cities. —Sugarman's Indicator.

American Car & Foundry Co. is now making cars for the Celestials. A recent order from the Chinese government calls for 300 cars for early delivery.

CITY WILL PERFECT TITLE ON PACIFIC AVENUE STRIP

The transaction between the City of Glendale and Messrs. D. C. Anderson and Myron L. Ogden, whereby it requires title to a 2½ foot strip taken from the property of the men named for street purposes on Pacific avenue through an error in survey, is now ready to close up.

City Manager Reeves advised the council last night that the deeds to the strip in question under which Mr. Anderson is to receive $110 and Mr. Ogden $100 are now ready for delivery.

One of the communications of City Manager Watson submitted at the special meeting of the city council last night concerned a supplement to his report in regard to plans for pipe line and weir in connection with carrying the Verdugo canyon gravity water from the main intake of the Verdugo Canyon Water Company to the Verdugo road reservoir.

Meter to Replace Weir
The supplement suggestion was to the effect that a meter be installed at the reservoir in place of the weir as suggested in the plans. This it was argued would cost little more and would be of more service to the city as it would accurately measure the water. It could be accomplished and kept within the appropriation, he declared, allowing a couple of hundred dollars extra for the meter.

Complaint of Lumber Piles
Renewed complaints by residents in the neighborhood of the Fox-Woodsum Company because of the piling of lumber on land belonging to the Salt Lake Railroad were verbally reported by Manager-elect Reeves. He stated that the lumber company has a 5-year lease of the land containing, however, a 30-day cancellation clause. He was instructed to investigate the matter further and ascertain if the piling of lumber there is in violation of city ordinances.

City Building on San Fernando
He also reported concerning the proposed rental of the pump house on San Fernando road. He said the building had formerly been used as a warehouse and had been rented to parties having furniture to store. It now houses two gas engines and he did not believe it would be best to move and store them, as they should be kept in shape to use at short notice. Furthermore, Mr. Reeves believed considerable money would have to be spent to put it in repair before the building could be rented. The council accepted Mr. Reeves' view.

Tree Stumps
Councilman Lapham complained of an unsightly tree stump in the parkway at the corner of Broadway and Central, and city manager-elect agreed to order it taken out by city employees. Councilman Stephenson made a similar complaint relative to a stump on San Fernando road, between Cypress and Los Feliz, and Councilman Davis las and San Antonio, Texas, says Sugarman's Indicator. There are well-informed crop specialists in Texas who are venting the opinion that the entire state may not produce more than 2,000,000 bales. They are very bullish on cotton in Texas and are predicting 20c per pound by March 1, contrasting with a prevailing level of 13c per pound. On a purchase of 10 bales of May cotton at 14c per pound, necessitating marginal deposit of $100 an advance in the May option to 20c per pound by March 1 would give the fortunate holder an indicated paper profit of $300, less $4.50 commission and a small government tax.

Even though the May cotton futures should sell up to 20c per pound by March 1, there would necessarily be frequent reactions and bulges which would give numerous profit-making opportunities. While trading in cotton futures is highly speculative, at the same time when you consider that the Government states a crop of only 8,203,000 bales is expected as contrasted with 13,365,754 bales last year, 11,420,763 bales two years ago, and 12,040,532 bales three years ago, one can readily realize that there should be real merit behind the present upward movement in cotton futures.

OIL TIDE HAS TURNED

We exported about 22,000,000 gallons less of crude and refined oil in June than in the same month last year. The total June output was 204,604,039 gallons valued at $26,584,274. Nevertheless, the June exports were 8,000,000 gallons ahead of this year's May exports, writes Sugarman's Indicator. In our opinion this indicates that the tide has finally turned for the better. There is probably no industry running on so close a margin as stocks in storage as the oil industry. Ordinarily the United States has only three or four months supply in storage, and just as soon as business gets better—which we believe is a matter of but a few months—you may be sure that shares in the leading oil companies will have discounted the improvement.

Revolving Street Fund
Councilman Clarence Kimlin called attention to the urgency of street work for which citizens are clamoring and which the city can do under the terms of its charter, provided it has a revolving fund. He felt that some start must be made to secure this fund or no work can be done before weather conditions interfere. The city manager was therefore urged to go over the matter with financial experts and work out some plan to secure this revolving fund.

Councilman Lapham pronounced it the most important matter now before the council.

Knox Fire Engine Ghost
Like Banquo's ghost, the old Knox fire truck formerly at station No. 2 invaded the councils of the administration. Declaring that it had given trouble ever since it was purchased, Councilman Stephenson announced it had again gone all to pieces and is now unfit for use. He later explained that the seat of the trouble is in the pump which was built for a steam fire engine and which could not stand the wear and tear of a gas engine.

An American LaFrance fire engine truck has been ordered for station No. 2, similar to the one in use at station No. 1. The city has a 4-cylinder Knox pump that is in good shape, on a little Knox truck. Mr. Stephenson said, and Chief Lankford's suggestion is to take this pump and put it in the big Knox truck, remove the pump now in it and if possible sell it, and then take the little Knox truck and make a hook and ladder apparatus out of it. There would be no expense attached to making this change, he said, and Mayor Robinson and the city manager endorsed the plan.

Those Beloved Benches
Trustee Lapham waxed historical and reminded fellow members that some time ago the old board of trustees made an appropriation to provide for the construction of some concrete benches to be placed on Brand boulevard for the convenience and comfort of women and children waiting for the car. "Where are they?"

Mayor Robinson said he supposed they were in Pasadena waiting to be painted, as he understood that was necessary to protect them against the weather.

Elevated Street Platforms
While the subject of accommodations for the traveling public was up, Councilman Kimlin called attention to the heavy traffic and consequent danger to pedestrians waiting to take P. E. cars on Brand, and suggested that platforms elevated about the height of the ordinary curb be placed within the zone on the paving; if necessary to prevent accident by falling off, that these platforms be fenced on the street side.

The suggestion was received with considerable enthusiasm and Councilman Stephenson called attention to such a platform opposite the Federal

INCREASE IN FINES REDUCES TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

Largest Collections Recorded by Judge Lowe From Fewer Cases in Court

There have been 270 cases, mostly for violations of the traffic laws, heard by Judge Lowe in the police court during August. This is not the greatest number heard in any one month, but the amount of fines collected, $1252, has never before been equalled.

In July, 1920, 359 cases were heard, and $1583 turned in to the city treasury, but several hundred dollars of this amount was for bail forfeited in two cases, the fines amounting to a little over $1000.

The nature of the offenses charged is as follows:

Open mufflers, 66; improper lenses, 43; speeding, 42; improper parking, 20; no tail light, 16; no mirror on truck, 16; turning between street intersections, 16; driving on wrong side of street, 11; cutting corners, 5; no warning signals, 7; obstructing fire hydrant, 5; wrong adjustment of spotlight, 3; no license plates, 3; battery, 3; driving in safety zone, 2; reckless driving, 2; disregard of officer's signals, 2; burglary, 2; drunkenness, 2; driving while under influence of liquor, 1; vagrancy, 1; license plate obscured, 1; attempting to drive while drunk, 1.

Decline of the Parlor

One of the large manufacturing companies of the United States is engaged in the construction of a great number of houses for its employees, and while there are many novel features in the way of making conveniences, the most striking thing about the homes is the total absence of the usual parlor. The space is thrown into the other rooms. It looks as if the "parlor" was out of fashion.

It seems strange that a nation capable of licking Germany should lie on its back and howl in the face of a little business depression.

building in Los Angeles in a dangerous place.

Parking Stalls

Councilman Kimlin also urged that parking places be indicated on the street pavement so that each man would have his stall and confusion would be avoided. Councilman Davis began to talk of auto parks which would take machines off the main business thoroughfares, but his conference on the council would not admit the time was ripe for that.

FIVE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS LEAK IN YEAR

If you kept company with the "average investor," who sunk a total of $500,000,000 in worthless stocks last year, you contributed your share of this colossal sum, says The Sugarman's Indicator.

This is the Federal Trade Board's figure of the annual waste and loss borne by foolish people who want "something for nothing" and get nothing at all.

And there is no stopping the "sucker" list. Year after year it totals piles up, staggering human belief. The "sucker" type of human cannot be induced to invest his money in first-rate securities of proven earning power. He won't look at a gilt-edged preferred stock or bond guaranteeing him from 8 to 10 per cent income. He wants "something for nothing."

It goes after the fake promotions and the wildest stocks. He gets nothing but not for nothing. Every year he pays half a billion dollars in cold, hard cash for nothing. There is no stopping him from doing it over and over again. The only advice we care to give our readers is not to keep company with "suckers" but invest their spare cash in the first-rate securities of concerns with national standing. There are plenty of them on the bargain list now. Why chase wildcats?

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

SCHEDULE OF SOUTHERN BRANCH OF UNIVERSITY

Registration Will Open Next Week for New and Old Students—Instructions Begin September 13—Any Person Interested May Secure Announcement

The announcement of the Southern Branch of the University of California at Los Angeles for the academic year 1921-22 was issued today from the University of California Press, and is available for prospective students. Registration of new students for the fall semester will be held September 8 and 10. Former students will register September 12. Instruction is to commence September 13.

Teachers' Branch
The Southern Branch of the University of California comprises the junior college and teachers' curricula. The work of the junior college corresponds to that offered in the lower division of the College of Letters and Science at Berkeley. The teachers' curricula offer two, three, and four years courses leading to elementary and special teachers' certificates. In accordance with the authorization of the State Legislature, a limit of 1200 has been placed upon the junior college as compared with 250 in 1919-20 and 750 in 1920-21. A limit of 1200 has also been placed upon the teachers' curricula, as compared with 1000 in recent years. In order to avoid possible failure to secure admission applicants should file their credentials immediately, and in no event should credentials be filed later than September 6.

Teachers' Certificates
In addition to the work of the junior college and the course leading to elementary teachers' and special certificates, four year courses for teachers are now being established in accordance with the act of February 8, 1921, of the Board of Regents of the University of California. The third year of these curricula will be offered for the first time in 1921-22. The fourth year work will be announced early next year, and instruction in the fourth year work will be offered for the first time in 1922-23. Twelve different curricula have been provided in these four year courses. A limited number of students will be admitted to the third year in September, 1921, so that application for admission should be filed with the Registrar immediately.

The announcement of the Southern Branch contains information relative to requirements for admission, courses of study, general regulations of the faculties concerning students in the academic departments, grades of scholarship, expenses of students, etc. It will be sent upon the receipt of ten cents by the Students' Book Store, Southern Branch of the University of California, Los Angeles.

Evolution of Life on Pacific Coast
A sketch of the still incomplete record of the evolution of existing forms of life on the Pacific Coast, based on the study of fossil remains of organisms, is presented in "An Outline of Progress in Paleontological Research on the Pacific Coast," published at the University of California Press by John C. Merriam, President of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., and formerly Professor of Historical Geology and Paleontology and Dean of the Faculties at the University of California. The earliest published data from the West Coast of North America dates back to 1831, according to President Merriam, and appears in Beecher's report on the voyage of H. M. S. "Blondin." The history of paleontological research in the Pacific Coast region is clearly divided into well marked periods. The first stage included the pioneer work of Conrad, Gabb, Marsh, Cope, Lesquereux, and others. Following an interruption of about twenty-five years extending over the seventies and eighties, the second stage begins with the inauguration of work at the two Universities of California, and continues with constantly increasing emphasis up to the present year.

Oil On Delhi Settlement
Mr. Elwood Mead, professor of Rural Institutions of the College of Agriculture of the University of California, has received communications from oil experts regarding the belief that there is oil under the lands of the Delhi Settlement.

Professor Mead, who was instrumental in the colonization of the Delhi settlement lands, says there is some local evidence of oil as it rises on the water drawn from settlers' wells. The oil experts have already proposed terms for an exploration.

Experiment Station Booklets
"The Milk Goat in California," is the title of a recent publication of the University of California Press regarding the work carried on at the Experiment Station of the College of Agriculture of the University of California.

The Bulletin is by E. C. Voorhees, Assistant to the Dean of the College of Agriculture and Assistant Professor in the Animal Husbandry Department of the College. The publication deals with general information regarding milk goats and the various products obtained from goat milk. It also gives the results of the experimental work in this field which has been carried on by the Agricultural Experiment Station from 1914 to 1916.

Professor Warren T. Clarke of the College of Agriculture has written a publication on "Alfalfa" which is issued as Circular No. 87 of the College of Agriculture. Professor Clarke deals with the soil, water and climatic requirements necessary for the raising of alfalfa and the time of irrigation and cutting.

Both of these publications may be obtained by writing to the College of Agriculture at Berkeley.

Professor W. V. Cruess and Professor A. W. Christie of the College of Agriculture of the University of California have carried out investigations to determine the best methods of preventing rain damage of prunes and now advocates various methods of sulfurizing to prevent their loss.

It was found that the partially dried prunes could be saved by being placed in fumes of burning sulfur in ordinary sulfurizing boxes to prevent moulding during the rainy weather.

By the use of evaporators and sulfurizing methods the College of Agriculture hopes to prevent the great loss suffered by the prune growers during the disastrous fall rains of 1918. Directions for building an inexpensive rain damage evaporator can be obtained upon application to the College of Agriculture at Berkeley.

Fruit Discovered By Chance
Some of the most popular varieties of fruits have been developed for human use by the merest chance, according to H. M. Butterfield, Supervisor of Agricultural Correspondence Courses, at the University of California.

The Eureka lemon, the Drake variety of almond and the Lambert Cherry are all specimens of fruits that have been developed only through chance discovery after they had been grafted onto the standard varieties. The Washington Naval, the greatest commercial orange variety in the world, was discovered by planting two of the twelve trees sent to the Department of Agriculture from Bahia, Brazil, in the sunny climate of California.

A knowledge of the care of these fruits is essential however, before new varieties can be brought forth. There are correspondence courses on Citrus Fruits, Semi-tropical fruits and others now being offered by the College of Agriculture. All these courses are described in Circular No. 113 which may be obtained from the Division of Agriculture Education, College of Agriculture, Berkeley.

Poultry Raising
"The relation of skillful farm management to the net profit made at the end of the year has become increasingly important under present economic conditions," stated Professor J. E. Dougherty, Chief of the Poultry Division of the College of Agriculture, of the University of California, in a recent interview.

Because of the recent slump in egg prices stress will be laid on the profits per hen in the study of poultry farm management in the six weeks course to be given in Poultry Raising. The course, which is to be given at the University Farm School at Davis, will begin September 26.

Farm Bureau Exchange
Forms of organization for county and state farm bureau exchanges in California, are explained in a publication issued by the College of Agriculture of the University of California, and edited by William R. Camp. The farm bureau exchange has grown out of the need of the farmers for an organization for business purposes, as the marketing and distribution of their products. The articles of incorporation and by-laws drawn up by the Division of Rural Institutions is presented in the publication. Separate county farm bureau exchanges are to be formed and then in turn they become members of the

C. OF C. TO ANNEAL ALL SECTIONAL CIVIC PRIDE

Will Bring Organization Closer to People of South Glendale for Development of Greater City Into a Compact, Progressive Unit, Eliminating Old Lines

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce will make a determined effort to obtain and maintain better relations between the people in the southern end of the city and the Chamber of Commerce. The residents of the southern section seem to have conceived the idea that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, instead of trying to help them, is doing everything it can to keep them from advancing. This, absolutely, is not the case. The chamber stands ready at all times to assist any section of the city that requires and asks for assistance, and in many instances has rendered assistance before that assistance was asked for.

The cause of all this feeling on the part of the South Glendale people is that their section has not advanced as rapidly as the central, western, northeastern and northwestern sections of the city, which are advancing by leaps and bounds. The very fact that one section grows while another stands still is not the fault of the chamber of commerce.

Chamber to Boost
If the residents of the South Glendale section get together and decide upon some improvements that they would like to put through, there is no doubt in the world but that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce would be more than willing to do its share of the work of putting through the desired improvements. In fact, the chamber would be willing to go more than half way in connection with any improvement that would benefit any particular section, for anything that would benefit one section could not help but benefit the city as a whole.

Southern Organizations
Down in that southern section there are several societies that have been organized for the express purpose of being a benefit to that section. The aims of each of these organizations are good, but the fact of the matter is that none of them is large enough to carry much weight and to bring about a great deal of good to the section which it represents. It is very possible, however, that if these societies could be persuaded to work in conjunction with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, which is large enough to get what it goes after, a great deal of good could be accomplished, the southern section of the city would be the recipient of much good and the city as a whole would be benefited.

Committee Appointed
A committee was appointed at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce last week, the work of which will be to see what can be done toward securing better relations between the chamber and the people of South Glendale.

"We must pull together," said Secretary Rhoades of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce today. "Where one man would be able to secure no results a live bunch of boosters would be entirely successful. And let me tell you the business men and residents of Glendale in general are certainly a live bunch of boosters. If the merchants and residents of the southern end of the city want to join us and get into the swim, we would be more than willing to do everything in our power to help them. We are going to inform them of this fact, and we are quite confident that they will join us before a great while."

Assistant Secretary E. F. Sanders, who has been doing a little work in the southern part of Glendale recently, says that he believes the people down there will soon see that it is to their benefit and to the benefit of the city as a whole for all sections to work together.

"The folks down there," said Mr. Sanders today, "are a very good sort. The trouble is that they have a wrong idea with regard to where the Glendale Chamber of Commerce stands. We are here to help all sections of the city. One locality has as much right to our assistance and support as has another locality. We are here to treat all sections alike."

PETALUMA STAGES HUNT FOR BURGLAR

PETALUMA, Calif., Aug. 31.—A posse was searching the countryside today for a burglar who, early today, fired on Officer Otto Rudolph and smashed a flashlight held by the policeman. The burglar attempted to enter the home of John True early today and was frightened away by the screams of Mrs. True. Officer Rudolph responded and instituted a search. He found the burglar attempting to enter another home. The bandit fired on the officer, the bullet putting his flashlight out of commission. A posse was at once organized to hunt the fugitive.

FREAK NAMES GIVEN
(By International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 31.—Among the many interesting things that the census, just completed in England, has shown is the change in names given to children.

The craze for war names, while not being so intense as it was after the South African war, was still strong enough to inflict on hundreds of hapless infants such monstrosities as "Ypres," "Kitchener," "Verdun," "Lorraine," "Salonica." The extent to which this craze has gone is really amazing.

Besides war names there are always other freak names. Last census showed that such absurdities as "Welcome Death," and "One Too Many" had been given to children. "William" has fallen from popularity. Its place has been taken by "George." Few parents during the war wanted to use the name given to the ex-Kaiser, and the name of England's own monarch immediately became the most popular one.

'BRONZE BELL' AT PALACE GRAND

"The Bronze Bell," the latest Paramount-Ince special picture, which will be presented at the Palace Grand today, for more than ten years has ranked as one of the most popular of American novels, and is still enjoying an enormous sale by book-dealers throughout the English-speaking world.

When Thomas H. Ince negotiated for the screen rights of a number of Louis Joseph Vance's novels, "The Bronze Bell" received first consideration, both because of its wide popularity and its unusual adaptability for the screen. The story is dramatic and the heart appeal irresistible. Courtenay Foote and Doris May head a cast of clever players.

 At the regular meeting of Girl Scout Troop No. 1, which took place Tuesday afternoon at Intermediate, all present practiced second-class scout tests and eight girls received their second-class scout badges.

Except for the absence of two or three members not yet returned from vacations, a full troop was present.

Announcement was made that next Friday afternoon, at the home of Scout Sara Chandler in Verdugo Woodlands, there will be an initiation of all the tenderfeet who are candidates for the two troops. One troop is now full and a good start is being made on the other troop. Refreshments will be served at that meeting.

Another announcement was of a two-day hike, to be made in company with scout leaders, starting Wednesday, September 7.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

4,000 Attend Retail Merchants' Exposition

Third Day of Big Retail Show Brings Record Attendance
 Under the Big Top, Where Varied Amusements
 Blend Residents Into a Home Folks' Meeting

By BERT MARPLE

Almost 4000 residents of Glendale and visitors from the nearby towns and cities, crowded into the big tent on the high school campus last night to behold the wonders of the Glendale Merchants' Exposition. It was just like a great big grown-up party, to which everyone you know, along with a few others, were invited.

No matter which way you turned, you saw one of your neighbors. Everybody was there, from the city officials, including the dog catcher, down to the most insignificant, ordinary, private citizens, or, in other words, the regular folks. And, to say that everyone who attended had a time that he or she will long remember, is telling only half the story.

As you wended your way through the vast crowd that filled the aisles, and, in fact, every available cranny and nook of the great canvas auditorium, you could not help but notice the combined look of anticipation and surprise that was upon every face. The people received more than they expected.

Many Visitors Present

There was another notable feature in connection with last night's attendance at the exposition and that was that an unusually large number of visitors were on hand. It was expected that the residents of Glendale would turn out in large numbers to their own exposition, although there would naturally come a few stragglers from out of town, but the number of outsiders who came to the large tent was beyond the dream of everyone who had a part in the big show. In connection with this feature of last night's attendance, one of the merchants remarked:

"Did you ever see anything like the way the outsiders are flocking to this show? There never has been anything in Glendale that has drawn half the number of outsiders that are being attracted by this exposition. They are coming from Eagle Rock, Burbank, Van Nuys, Lankershim, and even Owensmouth, Los Angeles, and San Fernando. This gives us a chance to get acquainted with the people in the surrounding country, as well as our own folks. We are surprised at the brotherly feeling that prevails between the citizens of the various cities of this section. While they are coming here primarily to see the big show, they do not forget to wish us success in this great undertaking. We certainly appreciate the many kind words that are being spoken by these 'outsiders,' who, incidentally, are outside only so far as the city boundary lines are concerned. Our aims should be the same, as our requirements along all lines are practically identical."

Eager to Get In

The crowd began to assemble last night promptly at 7 o'clock. It is surprising how eager the people were to get through the doors and right in among the "big doings." Apparently, everyone went to the show with the intention of having a good time, and, needless to say, they had it. There was nothing in the way of rowdiness or anything of the kind, although at times a person had to elbow his way through the crowd.

At about 8:30 o'clock, when the crowd was the most dense, Manager LaBrique had a bright idea. Up to this time the people were going in any direction they desired. They were going backwards, sideways, forward and many were standing still. At this particular time Manager LaBrique suggested from the runway that everyone keep moving slowly around the tent, to the left. By following this advice, the impending stampede was averted.

Merchants Happy

The merchants who are showing their wares at the exposition, are a dandy lot of fellows. They are real gentlemen and ladies. They radiate the spirit of welcome and good will. Their right hands are always out and their handshakes are something good to feel. From the minute you enter the big tent, you are greeted with smiles, kind words and brotherly feeling. It seems that they have been placed there to show the visitors a good time, and in this they surely are succeeding. It is true, that their one purpose in renting space in the big tent was to introduce their wares and to acquaint the people of Glendale and vicinity with the fair prices they are charging, but this fact is kept so cleverly in the background that the visitor feels as though he is attending a large housewarming or something of the sort, rather than an industrial exhibit.

The displays that have been put on by the Glendale merchants could not be surpassed. This is a pretty strong statement, but a visit to the show will demonstrate this fact very conclusively to the most skeptical. It does not matter where you turn after entering the big tent, you see the finest kind of merchandise that can be purchased anywhere. And the character of the displays cannot be emphasized too strongly. Not only is he who paints on canvas an artist. If the fact were known, there are many artists who are exhibiting their wares in the big tent this week. The manner in which their displays are arranged, the selection of merchandise for their exhibits, the way in which each individual piece of goods is placed or hung, demonstrates that as a whole the merchants of Glendale cannot be surpassed when it comes to planning and displaying their wares. It is certainly very evident that much thought and study, as well as money, has been expended in the carrying out of the plans for the booths in this exposition.

Management Should Be Congratulated

The management that is putting on the big show should be congratulated on the way it is carrying out its part of the program. It seems to be Mr. LaBrique's principal ambition to show the people of Glendale how well he can treat them. Every time he comes out on the runway and shouts: "Now, folks!" the visitors know there is something good in store for them, and they are never disappointed. He is constantly bringing on added attractions, new features, etc., that have as their principal aim the entertaining of those who have gathered to see the "fireworks."

Last Night's Program

The program put on last night was entertaining in the extreme. A novel feature about these numbers is that practically all of them were rendered from the runway. As they are singing, the performers often walk slowly along the runway, which extends almost the entire length of the tent, while the piano on which the accompaniment is played is located beneath it. The effect secured by this arrangement is, to say the least, pleasingly novel.

The first feature on the program last night was the giving away of a $5 bill, and a number of other articles of merchandise. This distribution was taken care of by Manager LaBrique. As each person entered the tent he was given a ticket to which a duplicate was attached. The ticket was retained while the duplicate was kept in a box at the door. When it came time for the drawings to begin the box containing the duplicates was taken upon the runway and after the contents had been thoroughly shaken, Mr. LaBrique picked one out at random. The person holding the ticket corresponding with the duplicate number drawn, was entitled to the prize offered, those ranging from boxes of prunes to orders for silk hose.

Following the first drawing came little Miss Howard, who has just completed a nengagement with a vaudeville circuit in the east. She sang a quaint, old-fashioned song, which was well received by the many folks present. Following this number there was a vocal duet by Miss Irene Engle and Miss Ethelyn Davis. Miss Engle is a recent arrival from Boston, while Miss Davis claims Los Angeles as her home. These talented young ladies have toured extensively together in various parts of the United States and have appeared in concert work in many of the leading cities of the country.

Following this duet, there was a vocal solo by Fred Jamison, of Los Angeles, entitled, "Old Pal of Mine." So well were the people pleased with this selection that Fred was compelled to reappear and give them a little money.

The first Fashion Revue which consisted of a display of Berky Peggy dresses, sold exclusively in Glendale by the Webb Department Store, Broadway and Brand, was then held. These dresses were extremely attractive, being along lines that are "different." The fact of seeing someone else as she would appear herself and having this done in such an attractive manner, was extremely pleasing to the many ladies present. Incidentally, the gentlemen present did not seem overly bored as the mannishness passed by in review.

Following this part of the Fashion Show there was a talk by Mr. Martin, a representative of the F. P. Newport company, and principal speaker for the Verdugo Woodlands tract. Mr. Martin's talk was enthusiastically received. He said in part:

"How many realize that this beauty spot, the Verdugo Woodlands tract, lies within the corporate limits of our city?"

"Glendale stands today as a city without a parallel in one respect, that it has taken into partnership as its advertising agent the United States government, which announced to the world a year ago that Glendale, the beautiful city of homes, had made a gain of 392½ per cent in the last decade."

"How many of us realize the growth that has been made since that time? Some one recently said that in 1930 Glendale would have a population of 50,000. But let's look at the facts. If Glendale continues to grow as she has grown in the last 20 months, approximately 600 per month, she will become a city of 50,

Round the Sport Circle with Jack Veieck International News Sporting Editor.

GIRL TENNIS STAR
Way out in California they are predicting that little Helen Willis, the Berkeley schoolgirl, will be the women's national tennis champion before she becomes of age.

Miss Willis is now only 15 years old, but she has cleaned up everything in her class on the faraway Pacific coast and the best talent in the country of her age, and competent critics in the east are inclined to take great stock in the California prediction regarding her chances of annexing the title now held by Mrs. Molla Mallory.

The little Berkeley star, who still wears her hair in braids, is sturdy for her age and plays tennis with a dash and assurance that would do credit to many a woman player twice her age. She opened the eyes of easterners at Newport recently when she took a set from Miss Eleanor Goss, a feat that many of the better women players would be proud to accomplish, and her playing in the national junior tourney at Forest Hills was a revelation.

One feature of Miss Willis' game is her versatility. She doesn't play a baseline game, as so many of the seasoned tournament players in the women's championship have grown in the habit of doing. She comes up to the net and plays all over the fore court with ease and grace, and her ground shots and backhand are surprisingly accurate for a player of her age and experience.

Jack Johnson and Harry Willis may meet in Montreal. They may also meet in New York, Philadelphia or Chicago, but there won't be a fight between them in any of the last-named burghs.

A BOLSHIEVICK HORSE
This "Bolshievick" horse, Morvich, is some bangtail. He has all the other two-year-olds of the season left footed at the post in the matter of winnings and if he keeps on, Man-o-War's noble ears will be burning.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR PARTY

As predicted, the Christian Endeavor party staged at the Tropic Presbyterian church last night and to which members of Glendale's Epworth League were also guests, proved a very jolly affair.

The most interesting features, so far as the program was concerned, were the talks made by Misses Ethel Preston and Nancy St. Clair about the world Christian Endeavor convention which they attended in New York and their visit to the Christian Endeavor headquarters in Boston, a most wonderful building, they declared. They also reviewed the progress of Christian Endeavor work in general.

Mrs. C. C. Stoler had planned several games, which were entered into with great hilarity.

Miss Eloise Ware of Whittier, social chairman of county work, and Will Richardson, financial secretary of county work, were present and helped to promote the pleasures of the evening.

Miss Laura Donnell of Eagle Rock, who has always been an active Christian Endeavorer, was welcomed home after a year's absence in Colorado.

When refreshments were announced the company lined up, cafeteria style, and received ice cream cones. This constituted the finish of the evening except for the good-byes.

BOOSTERS MEET THURSDAY
A meeting of the boosters of the southern section of Glendale will be held tomorrow evening in Knights of Pythias hall. The purpose of the meeting will be to consider several improvement propositions that will be to the interest of the southern part of the city. Among the questions to be brought up are taxation, ornamental electric lights, traffic officers, etc. G. E. Schram, the temporary president of the association, issued the call for this meeting. Mr. Schram says that everything in the southern end of Glendale is on the move.

"Things are beginning to boom down here," said Mr. Schram this morning. "We want the world to know that we have some real boosters and that we have decided to start something. We have not made a great deal of progress in the past, but just you watch us grow. From now on we will be doing things. Things are beginning to pick up along the real estate line. New buildings are being started almost daily, and in the hearts of the people of this section there is springing up a desire to do things and to see things done. This desire is spreading like wildfire."

MURPHY IS BOOSTER
William P. Murphy, of the Murphy Furniture Company, on Brand boulevard, is another fellow who thinks that things in the south end of the city are going to boom, starting with today. The boom is going to grow, too, thinks Mr. Murphy. Already business is on the pickup and it is the general belief that before a great while things will be moving right along.

Personals

Mrs. Nettie Cornell, 125 1/2 North Brand, and Miss Edith Tyler, 623 North Maryland avenue, are leaving on Friday for a week's stay in San Diego.

Mrs. Emeline Yarik, mother of H. W. Yarik, 347 West Wilson, who has been a guest in his home for the past four months, left today to return to her home in Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morgan and son have returned from a two weeks' outing at Laguna Beach and report a very delightful vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayars of North Orange street are expected home today from Hermosa Beach.

South Glendale News

BRENKMAN ELECTRIC CO.

The Brenkman Electric Company of the Southern San Fernando road, reported today that business is on the pickup. The members of this firm say that things along the electrical line in the southern part of Glendale are on the boom.

McLEAN SELLS OUT

T. D. McLean, who for the last several weeks has been conducting a tire store on South San Fernando road, has disposed of his business.

Mr. McLean is now enjoying a vacation of several weeks at Lake Tahoe, after which he intends to leave for the east.

SATOS ON VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sato of South San Fernando road, will leave Friday of this week for a trip of several days in the southern part of California. Some time will be passed by them in San Diego and points in the immediate vicinity of that city. They expect to return to their home in this city early next week.

CENTRAL METHODISTS DRIVE
Progress is reported by all of the teams who are working in the drive to wipe out the debt of the Central Avenue Methodist church. These teams have been out for about two weeks and the progress that has been made is truly encouraging. A meeting of all of these teams will be held in the social hall early next week to learn just how successful the workers have been during the last few days. Those in charge of that drive confidently believe they will be able to burn the mortgage on the church early in September as originally was planned.

CREDIT ASSOCIATION ORGANIZATION IS UNDER WAY

Glendale is to have a merchants' credit association. A call has been sent out to the various merchants of Glendale for a meeting to consider the formation of an organization of this kind, this meeting to be held at the headquarters of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce about the middle of next week, the date as yet not having been decided upon.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held several weeks ago C. E. Neale of the Neale & Gregg Hardware Company was appointed as temporary secretary of this proposed association of Glendale business men. It is Mr. Neale who is sending out the call for this meeting, which will, no doubt, result in the forming of this association. Up to this time all of the merchants who have been approached on this question have signified their intention of joining. These number about 25, and it is belief of Mr. Neale that little doubt exists that steps will be taken toward forming this organization at the meeting that is being called.

The purpose of this association will be primarily to protect the merchants against bad accounts, slow payments, etc. The intention is to operate this association on the same plan as is used in connection with merchants' credit associations in Los Angeles and other cities of Southern California. A central bureau will be established—probably at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce—and to this bureau a daily report will be made by all of the members comprising the association. In fact, anything that pertains to credit sales will be reported each evening.

At the meeting to be held next week the organization of the association will take place, after which a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and five directors will be elected. No officers will draw a salary and the expenses of the organization will be held down as much as possible.

GREEKS TAKE ANGORA; TURKS FALLING BACK

ATHENS, Aug. 31.—The Greeks expect to enter Angora, the Turkish Nationalist capital, before Sunday, according to information from Smyrna today.

The Turks are abandoning their chief fortified positions west and northwest of Angora and are falling back hotly pursued by the Greeks.

Turks Reported Retreating
LONDON, Aug. 31.—The Turkish Nationalist forces under Musapha Kemal are abandoning their advanced posts, according to latest dispatches today from the Turco-Greek battle-front. Constantinople advices indicate that King Constantine's troops have succeeded by violent counter-attacks in turning the tide of battle on the Kamari front.

"BUDDY'S PLACE" WAS ROBBED LAST NIGHT

"Buddy's Place," as it is still called, though P. C. Beamish is now the proprietor, was broken into and robbed last night, probably by boys. A hole was cut in the screen of the back door and the hook lifted. There was no regular door at the rear. The intruders helped themselves to soda pop and ice cream, broke open the cash register and rifled it of $3 in pennies, war tax receipts, stole about $45 worth of cigarettes and other goods and took away some clothes of the clerk.

Personals

REAL ESTATE FIRM NOW IN HANDSOME NEW QUARTERS

The old established real estate firm of Burton & Chandler, which has been doing business in Glendale for several years, the last three in the present location, 133 South Brand boulevard, is moving to 127 West Broadway, where much more commodious quarters have been secured. Both J. W. M. Burton and C. L. Chandler are well acquainted with Glendale conditions, and have kept step with its wonderful progress along all lines. They know the city thoroughly, its resources, its needs and the high ambition of its people. They have done much in the past to aid in its progress and propose now to broaden their activities in all lines. They will keep open house in their handsome new quarters and cordially invite frequent visits from Glendale people, their friends and transient dwellers, promising their best efforts and cordial co-operation in all plans to further boost Glendale.
